

A 2021 BGES Weekend Warrior Program:
All's Fair in War, Streight's Raid & Forrest's Bluff
Presented by Brian Steel Wills and Norm Dasinger
June 25–27, 2021, from Gadsen, Alabama

No Civil War figure has been more polarizing than Nathan Bedford Forrest. Yet, he was a feared and respected military commander who produced some of the great stories and legendary military operations of the war. This program examines one of the unique operations of Forrest's command and opens a discussion on the military impact of the operation on the war.

Streight's Raid is tarred by history for its misstatements and criticism of the Union commander. Mounted on mules, the operation is ridiculed for the logistical difficulties it presented and the open opportunities it created for Forrest. In some circles analogous to falling out of a boat, Forrest had to hit water! Still, what was the impact of two simultaneous raids launched from nearly the same locations, with Ben Grierson moving south to distract Confederates attention from U.S. Grant's move along the west bank of Louisiana to cross the Mississippi, and Abel Streight's move toward the Confederate Army of Tennessee's line of supply, the Western and Atlantic Railroad, which was supplying Braxton Bragg near Tullahoma? Had Rosecrans and Grant coordinated? What might have happened had Forrest pursued Grierson instead of Streight?

Clearly both raids launching near the same dates and ending within days of each other—one successful and the other a failure—are robust themes for examination and discussion. This program focuses on Streight, and Forrest's biographer, Brian Steel Wills, is the lead historian.

This is a unique tour that is much more than it appears. No one knows Forrest better than Brian Wills (read his biography, The Confederacy's Greatest Cavalryman), and Norm Dasinger is second to none in Alabama history with a firm knowledge of the sites and local history. They will produce an interactive and very informative program.

BY THE WAY, DO NOT MISS TIM SMITH'S PREMIERE PRESENTATION OF GRIERSON'S RAID WITH BGES FROM JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI, ON AUGUST 11–14, 2021.

Friday, June 25, 2021

We will meet at the Hampton Inn at 6 p.m. to pick up maps and to meet and greet your instructors, Brian Wills and Norm Dasinger, and your fellow students at a reception with adult beverages. Brian and Norm will overview the program and offer comments on the key personnel and the operations that would be conducted. We will break in time for you to have dinner on your own.

Saturday, June 26, 2021

We will start this morning at 0815, departing Gadsden for Moulton, where we visit the restored home of Gen. Joe Wheeler—Wheeler was certainly one of the most storied of Confederate cavalry leaders and his record and service extend far beyond the Civil War, having served as an American general during the Spanish-American War some 33 years later. It is a beautiful property that positions us to pick up Streight's Raid at an early moment in the operation. It was near this spot where Forrest first intercepts Streight's movement. Following lunch at the Old Cookstove Restaurant in Danville, Alabama, we will visit the battlefields of Day's Gap and Hog Mountain.

These two sites are where Streight turned on Forrest, who was pursuing him, and slapped him away from his rear guard. During the engagements, Forrest's brother, Bill, was wounded at Day's Gap. These actions also set the stage for a controversial confrontation between Lt. Willis Gould and Forrest, when Gould spiked two of his cannon, an action Forrest strongly denounced.

After finishing at Hog Mountain, we will return to Gadsden, arriving in time for you to have dinner on your own. Lunch is provided.

Sunday, June 27, 2021

We will resume our travels at 8:15, starting with the May 1, 1863, action at the Battle Royal crossing of the Black Warrior River. Here some patriotic southern civilians drugged some Union soldiers and brought them as captives to Forrest's camp. We are then back in Gadsden to show you the most romantic element of the operation, where a young teenager named Emma Sansom climbed onto Forrest's mount with the general to show him where he might ford Black Creek and avoid the damaged bridge over the same water course. The site has not changed since 1863!

Following a hosted lunch at Norm Dasinger's father's lakefront home, we head to Blount Plantation, where Streight's deputy, Colonel Hathaway, was killed. As we follow the increasingly desperate Streight, we reach Cedar Bluff, where Forrest tricks Streight and convinces him to surrender his remaining force of 1,500 men (Forrest has barely 300 men with him)—one of the great ruses of the war and yet another story in the rich repository of stories about this remarkable but uneducated military genius. We will return to the hotel by 4:30 p.m. in plenty enough time to let you head home or do a little sight-seeing.

About the Faculty:

Brian Steel Wills is a professor of history at Kennesaw State University outside of Atlanta. He is also the Director for the Center for the study of the Civil War Era. In addition to the biography on Forrest, he is also the author of the most recent biography *General George Henry Thomas, As True as Steel*. Another of his books is *The War Hits Home: The Civil War in Southeastern Virginia*. Last but certainly not least is his entertaining book Gone with the Glory: The Civil War in Cinema. Each of Brian's works reveal an expansive view of history and its potential. His interpersonal interactions have proven him to be a popular and engaging speaker. You will enjoy your time with him.

Norm Dasinger is an Alabama businessman who has been completely immersed in history his entire life. Son of a father who was the National Chairman of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and a member of both Union and Confederate heritage/legacy groups and Revolutionary War heritage groups, Dasinger has led numerous tours in Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee—often mixing the themes to maximize the experience for his clients. Norm is a member of the Blue and Gray Education Society and is a frequent contributor to the BGES Dispatches electronic publications. Norm is a man who walks his talk!

Hotel Information:

This program will be based at the Hampton Inn, 206 Walker Street, Gadsden, Alabama 35904 (256-538-5222, Code: BGE). A block has been set aside at $99 per room per night plus tax and tourism surcharge.

Transportation:

The servicing airports are Huntsville, 73 miles away (HSV), and Birmingham (BHM), 61 miles away. Birmingham is served by Southwest Airlines. Both are served by the big three carriers, United, American, and Delta. In every instance you will need a rental car.

Recommended Reading:

You will be provided with maps upon arrival. The following books are suggested to enhance your readiness for the program. If you are a user of Amazon and would consider signing up for AmazonSmile, name Blue and Gray Education Society as the beneficiary of your purchases—we are getting a quarterly check from Amazon from supporters who shop on Amazon. A percentage of every purchase, this one and all other purchases, comes to BGES. Thank you.
